Brenda Ueland, journalist, editor, freelance writer and teacher of writing

Featured Artists - White Room Show

Marjorie Krutsch and Beverly Scott Walczak will be our featured artists for July. (Turn to Page 2 for Marjie's information)

Please be sure to attend their artists' reception on July 10th.

Beverly Scott Walczak has always been drawn to art and showing her creative side. Raising a family and working in the corporate world, from which she retired in 2007, didn't leave much time. Bev took various classes throughout that time at the VMCA in Milwaukee, the Adler Center in Libertyville, and with local teaching artists, such as Jane Craner, and Suzie Hetzel.

She also enjoys learning from various artists that teach workshops in Illinois and Arizona.

Bev enjoys painting floral subjects, nature, and landscapes using watercolor the most, but also works in acrylics and oils. She has done several wall murals for private homes and area businesses. Bev's work is displayed in various private collections in Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, and Arizona. Bev is a member of The Antioch Fine Arts Foundation in Antioch, IL, and the Sedona Art Gallery in Arizona.

Please contact Bev at beverlywalczak@att.net, or 847-395-2741.

A big "Thank you!" to Impressions Count, 907 Main St, Antioch for your contribution in printing ArtLines in "the mystic realm of color".

"The whole world, as we experience it visually, comes to us through the mystic realm of color."
Hans Hofmann, abstract expressionist painter

Marjorie Krutsch is a charter member of the Antioch Fine Arts Foundation and Spring Grove Fine Arts Gallery artist and works in several mediums. Marjie is a stained glass artisan and an accomplished oil painter and watercolorist. She studied with a well-known teacher, Joe Teresi, where she was encouraged to study the masters and practice by copying their work. Her bold knife strokes coupled with Rembrandt's deep tones bring a richness of style and interest to her work.

Marjie has been featured in the White Room of the Antioch Fine Arts Gallery, and Featured artist at the Spring Grove Art Gallery, has been juried into the Woodstock show "Gallery in the Garden", Old Town Art Gallery-Spring Grove, Lake Forest Art Show and most recent the University of Wisconsin at Park side. Marjie also had her work in the Members Exhibition 2010 of the College of Lake County Robert T. Wright Community Gallery of Art and currently has work in the gift shop and the College of Lake County.

Marjie also teaches Stained Glass at her Studio on the Lake in Antioch under the name of The Glass Canvas. For more information about her classes, workshops and custom orders, please contact Marjorie Krutsch at 847-502-8251.

CHECK IT OUT !!

The bio book "ABOUT OUR ARTISTS" is now on the table in the Terra Cotta room of the gallery. It can help all of us become better acquainted with each other's art and hopefully we can become better salespersons. When people buy art, they often want to know more about the artist. Visitors to the gallery might have questions that the book will help to answer. The book is "loose-leaf" so that updated information can be supplied and new artists added.

The book will never be considered finished and any additional material can either be inserted by the artist or put in my mail slot (Bernita). The artist can replace what is there with something better or more recent if desired. Using the Internet, websites, and the Art Lines, I was able to assemble pages for some of those who did not respond with submissions. Some of this material may be thought too old for use, so please look it over and amend accordingly.

HAVE YOU NOTICED?

This newsletter is looking kinda skimpy these days. Yikes! Don't tell me you're all taking a break from art this summer?

We need everyone to put news@antiochfinearts.org into their email address book and use it often. Send in news of anything newsworthy in regard to your art, classes you are teaching, awards, acceptances into art shows, any publicity you've gotten, etc. Don't forget to add pictures - a picture is worth a thousand words!

"I suppose no matter what I'm drawing, there will always be some sort of question in my mind about it. A work of art (even cartoon art) is never really finished; it is abandoned." Brooke McEldowney, cartoon artist

WHAT WE'RE UP TO

Lynne Krestan will be displaying her Garden Fable and Story Plaques at the following juried art shows:
South Shore Frolics in Milwaukee, July 11,
Kohler Midsummer Arts Festival, Sheboygan, WI July 17 -18
Festival of Arts, Old Orchard, Skokie, July 24-25.
Cold-cast copper plaques from her original woodcarvings.
"Each Plaque Tells A Story"

DON'T MISS the artist's reception hosted by Marjie Krutsch and Bev Walczak on July 10th, 2-4 pm. The free, live music starts at 2.

FREE ADVERTISING!

It's simple, just make a point of telling one new person each week about our wonderful Gallery.

You can also forward this newsletter to your friends and family.

Having visitors this summer? Why not take them on a tour of your Gallery? Not open? Not a problem! Give them a private showing—how impressive is that?
